B. B. M. Better Bull Meeting. Don't forget the meetings in the interest of Better Bulls, to be held Friday and Saturday, March 31, and

April 1. Great interest is being shown in the Better Bull Campaign. shown in the Better Bull Campaign. From all indications, a large number of replacements will be made this year in the county. Meetings will be held at Sink Hole school house Friday afternoon, March 31; at Rouggly school house Friday night, Davis Crossing school house Saturday afternoon, April 1st, and at Cedar Falls school at night. Everybody come.

Bolstein Cattle Breeders Organize.

At a meeting last Saturday, the Hoistein cattle breeders organized in association. Plans for the promotion of better dairy cattle in the county were discussed. The following officers were elected: President, J. D. Rion; Vice President, C. H. Menge; Secretary-Treasurer, C. A. Tetley.

Have You Looked for Chinch Bugs and Hessian Fly?

and Hessian Fly?
Last call for burning fence rows and field borders to kill the chinch bugs that wintered over. It is stated by the College of Agriculture that the death now of one female means 150 less in June grain fields. With a little careful examination upon the part of those farmers having broom sedge and wild red top on their premises, to locate the bugs and to burn these tufts close to the ground, St. Francois county will enjoy comparative freedom from the chinch bugs. With the aid of A. C. Burrill, of the University of Missouri, a hunt was made in different section of the county for and wild red top on their premises, to locate the bugs and to burn these turts close to the ground, St. Francois county will enjoy comparative freedom from the chinch bugs. With the aid of A. C. Burrill, of the University of Missouri, a hunt was made in different section of the county for the bugs. Mr. Burrill complimented the farmers in the county on their successful manner of combating the bugs. By close grazing and burning, the bugs have been exposed to the wearcher and a comparatively small number came through the winter allive. Most of these are congregated live. The Hessian fly was found in but one field examined in the county. The flax seed were discovered in a wheat stubble in the northeast part of the county, where the wheat crop was practically ruined by the fly last year due to the early sowing the fall previous. Some steps of control were taken last year by the late seeding of wheat adjoining the infected field. No fly were found in this wheat. However, there is danger of a spring infestation in this wheat as the spring festation in this wheat as the spring infestation in this wheat as the spring brood will come out in April from the stubble field adjoining. The stubble, by all means should be turned under to good depth as quickly as possible. One means of preventing the damage of the fly had been practiced but is not sufficient for complete cradica-

Mr. Burrill also was highly pleased with the successful fight in the county, against the Hessian fly, and complimented the farmers on the good work done along this line.

Kitchen Arrengement.

Handy arrangement of working ols saves many steps. The housetools saves many steps. The house-wife should study the kitchen and see if rearranging the equipment would make cooking less of a task.

Have utensils where they can be reached easily and not on shelves so high that you must stand on tip-toe and stretch your arms to reach them. Put the utensils used most frequently Put the utensils used most frequently in the handiest places and those used together, near one another. Group things needed about the stove near together: kettles, skillets, roasters, holders, asbestos mats, and anything else you are in the habit of using, are most convenient placed near the stove.

Near the work table, another group, consisting of pans, bowls, crocks, food chopper, paring knives, and various other utensils should be placed. These are all needed in the preparation of

The Simes is pleased to note that the special election held in Bismarck on Saturday, March 18th, on an electric lighting franchise for that town, there were 352 votes in favor of that proposition and not a single dissenting vote was polled. This was truly a remarkable showing, as it failed to show the slightest opposition to the advancement of that place.
In other words, there appears to be not a single "knocker" there against the progress of Bismarck.
